On a small and quiet urbanisation in Melegis sits Casa Roberto, a four bedroomed house with a patio, garage and two roof terraces with great views all around to the hills and mountains.

Below ground level is a large garage with two distinct sections, one with an open fireplace as is customary with the village houses in the valley. There is room here for two cars and a workshop.

On the first floor is the kitchen with access to a patio, ideal for al-fresco eating. There is a separate dining room and a salon. There is also a bathroom on this level.

On the first floor is another bathroom and three more bedrooms. On the top floor is another bedroom and access to two different roof terraces with great views all around the valley.

A very nice, virtually unused house at a realistic price.
